Discussion: (Items/Knowledge Shared)

- Ward 7 of Dhulikhel municipality is the traditional newar settlement developed more than a century ago. This type of compact traditional settlement has not been properly addressed by the National Reconstruction Authority.
- Most of the houses in the ward are inhabited by multiple families, descendants of same great grandfather or grandfather, and in most of the cases the houses are not legally divided to the current owners. This multiple ownership is the major challenge for reconstruction in the ward. In some houses all the occupant families are the beneficiaries while in some only one family has been listed as the beneficiary. Multi occupancy of single house through flat system and tranche support to all the multiple beneficiaries can be a solution to housing reconstruction progress in the ward.
- Rural and urban housing reconstruction are completely different process. In urban areas, mostly the compact traditional settlement, land has a very high value. Even one aana is a large parcel of land. This issue was raised in the initial days of reconstruction and the municipality stepped forward to legalize constructions according to the pre-earthquake plinth area removing the municipal criteria of minimum land area of 2 aana and 2 paisa. Similarly, there is a need of separate policies by NRA to address the housing reconstruction of traditional compact settlements.
- Demolition too is the major hurdle for housing reconstruction in the ward. Traditional settlements consist of attached housing. Thus, demolishing one house will affect the adjacent houses. Similarly, the road networks consist of narrow roads and alleys posing difficulty in transportation of debris. High cost for demolition and debris management demotivate the beneficiaries to reconstruct as the cost can reach upto 3-5 lakhs.
- Retrofitting can be a solution to conserve the century old settlement but no guidelines and models have been prepared to retrofit the traditional houses. Similarly, the retrofit tranche is too low which demotivates beneficiaries to look for possibilities of retrofitting.
- Multi installment tranche system too may not be applicable in compact settlements. Provision of 3 lakhs in a single installment for selected traditional settlements can encourage beneficiaries to reconstruct.
- Urban poor and marginalized groups have not been identified by NRA. There is an immediate need to focus on these categories. Easy access to loan, low interest loans can be a solution to address these groups.
