News & Updates

DHADING, Oct 26 and 27: Chhath festival, normally celebrated in the Tarai or plains of the country is gradually becoming an occasion to celebrate in the hills too.

Accordingly, the river banks in the district headquarters (Dhadingbesi) today were beautifully decorated for those coming to celebrate Chhath and making offerings to the sun as it sets in the evening.

People originally from the Tarai and living in the hills are leading the celebrations and many locals have joined in. The festival is also being seen as a mode of promoting goodwill and fraternity between the tarai and hills.

Oct 28, 2017- A passenger bus met with an accident into the Trishuli river at Ghatbesi in Dhading district at around 5am on Saturday. The incident occurred when the ill-fated bus heading towards Kathmandu from Rajbiraj. According to Dhading police the death toll has reached 31 and authorities said the toll could rise further.

15 passengers save their life by swimming to the river bank. They are all injured. The exact number of passengers on board the bus is not known, therefore, rescuers have no idea how many bodies might be in the river. Police believe there are still dozens of passengers trapped inside the bus.
