Tomorrow marks two years since the 2015 Gorkha Earthquake. The terrible loss of life and damage to housing, infrastructure, and services has had an enormous impact on the country. The anniversary is a chance to remember those who lost their lives, and to approach support to households that are rebuilding with renewed vigour. During the HRRP General Meeting on Friday 21st April, Dr. Govind Raj Pokharel, NRA CEO, requested partners to urgently expand technical assistance highlighting that cash and materials alone will not build houses and information and continuous technical assistance must complement the government grant assistance. HRRP looks forward to working with all stakeholders to support planning and roll out of scaled up technical assistance.

HRRP General Meeting, Friday 21st April: the meeting included presentations from MoFALD CL-PIU, MoUD CL-PIU, and NRA which provided overall progress updates, touched on the challenges, and outlined the next steps and way forward. The NRA CEO Dr. Govind Pokharel, urged partners to focus their resources and efforts on scale up and delivery of technical assistance. During some of his recent field visits, Dr. Pokharel found that households don't have access to trained masons and don't have access to information either on the technical standards or the overall reconstruction programme. The full session summary will be available on the HRRP website soon. The HRRP document 'Nepal Earthquake 2015: Housing Reconstruction Two Years On' (Version 1) will be available here later today. Feedback on the document is very welcome and should be sent to Siobhan Kennedy, HRRP Recovery Advisor, siobhan@hrrpnepal.org, by COB Friday 28th April at the latest.
