Field Interviews of Locals

Bakhan Singh Moktan, permanent resident of Japhe 2, Barabesi is a trained mason who has received 7 days Mason Training before 18 months ago. After the training, he has not been called by anyone for the house construction. He says, "I am not a pro artisan and the artisan refuses me to be their colleague. Pro Artisans use their relatives and sons for the construction. Even house owner don't call me. I have been trained and I know the components for making the house safer. I know the joints and strengthening system however I am not able to use the knowledge and skills". We also found lacking in his technical knowledge which he may have forgotten. This was a new challenge for reconstruction where we are just focused in training and developing new masons only. The need of refresher trainings for already trained masons was reflected from this experience. Meanwhile, developing more masons are not the mere solution, there should be some solution for using the people like Bakhan who is unemployed.
